Ann Singer is a 26 year old who was born in the northern part of Namibia but raised from the age of 2 and schooled in Windhoek, Ann is a vibrant vocalist that loves to read, travel and socialise, she also prides herself in always doing a live performance

“I believe that with each performance there should be an experience for the audience and I cannot give an experience for each and every one of them if I do not give them a piece of myself, singing live allows me opportunity to give what I feel at that moment, It allows me to give who I really am in that given moment” Ann Singer

Ann released her first 14 tracked studio album late November in 2015 under Antonio's Art and entered for The Namibia Annual Music Awards where she got 5 nominations and won 4, Best New Comer, Best RNB, Best Afro Pop and Album of the Year Awards. Ann Singer is also a part time radio presenter who started off at Unam Radio in 2015 and later went on to Energy100 in 2016 where she hosted the Local attack Show that is every Saturday between 16h00-18h00, Ann was also part of the Unam choir.

She is currently doing a Bachelor's Degree in Marketing Management at International University of Management

“School and Music = lots of dedication and sacrifice but I know it'll be worth it” Ann Singer.

Currently Ann is busy working hard for her next album to be released later this year with Mabala Noise Entertainment and working to get her music on a continental and later a universal stage.

“One needs a qualification, no thief can steal that from you” Ann Singer

Ann wishes to get to where she desires to be as an established artist and she wishes to be a household name to carry the Namibian flag beyond the borders

“Music is a part of me and it can never leave me, its apart of who I am” Ann Singer
