About Imbroglia sextet: The critically acclaimed Imbroglia Sextet is an instrumental ensemble bringing together musicians from five countries: Bolivia, Haiti Mexico, Spain, and the United States. Taking their name from the idea that an unexpected turn of events can reveal new questions and ideas, Imbroglia has toured across the globe, led by Haitian-American director and composer Sydney Guillaume. The sextet combines brass, woodwind, and strings to make music that is artistically classical with an international spirit. The ensemble's latest album, Imbroglia Haitiano, features original and arranged pieces which draw their influence from the musical traditions of the Caribbean, North America, and Europe
